Thoughts and Ideas

White is a difficult color to put into a color by code. I could have made white coded another color but I want my students to see and associate white. I recommend two ways to accomplish the task of coloring the snowman white.

1. Print the color by code on tan or darker than white paper.
2. Accept the word white being grayed out by the white wax of the crayon on standard white paper.

If neither of these options work for you or your students I have included an altered copy where the word white is coded to be colored blue.
